Thank you to my wife, Karin, without her support and love this book would not have been possible. And, thank you to my father, John, without his gift these images would not have been created.

Given a camera at 14, Micah has rarely put it down since. After studying and graduating with a BFA in art and photography from the University of Denver in 1999, the Oklahoma native moved to NYC in 2001 to work as a photo assistant. In the fall of 2003, he struck out on his own, applying his artistic eye to food and still-life photography. When not on assignment, Micah focuses on personal projects, like this book and another up-coming flower project called "the secret life of flowers".
